

Words I don't know but they're in the book (I don't know them either). They're in the book. It's in the other room.

Not In My World is the third album from Oakland, California's She Mob, whose 1999 debut Cancel the Wedding garnered critical praise from Greil Marcus and Robert Christgau. The band is a woman-led group of 40-somethings that came of age in the early punk era, inspired by Rough Trade girl punk bands like Delta 5, Lilliput and Essential Logic. She Mob has been called a "chick Ween," with an iconoclastic mix of real-life stories and dream-inspired multi-genre songs that alternately screech, rock, haunt, amuse and confound.

Not In My World represents a new direction for She Mob with the addition of Suki O'Kane from the East Bay improv scene and a new batch of songs that incorporate chance operations, noise, ambience and improvisation into the band's pop punk sound.

In an era of emergent "Mom Rock" by older women, She Mob's latest CD throws down the gauntlet with expressionistic songs about rage, ambiguity, Botox, cows, fairies, death, dismemberment, bad coffee, wet kittens, stains, contempt, insecurity, expired cough syrup and the Royal Tenenbaums.

Not In My World features core members Sue Hutchinson, Alan Korn (Richard Buckner) and Suki O'Kane (Moelkestral), in a collaborative effort with Grammy-nominated sound engineer and musician Myles Boisen (Splatter Trio, Tom Waits, John Zorn), Jeff Hobbs and Lisa McElroy.

For more information about She Mob, visit www.shemob.com or write to info@shemob.com.

© © 2005 she mob / bonefish music bmi
865 52nd street, oakland, ca 94608
info@shemob.com | www.shemob.com

she mob

not in my world

Someday I'll pick it up and open it up.

illustrations by matthew waldrón • www.holocenesound.org/irr